

HIGH YIELD STRATEGY OVERVIEW

ADVENT
CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, LLC

PROFILE | MARCH 2021

INVESTMENT PHILOSOPHY

Advent employs deep fundamental credit research, thorough scenario analysis, and sophisticated analytic models to provide real-time valuation and risk metrics that facilitate timely decision making and an opportunistic trading strategy. By utilizing an alpha-focused relative value investment strategy, we have achieved superior risk-adjusted returns in the high yield market.

Our focus on alpha to generate compelling risk-adjusted returns leads us to typically maintain a relatively conservative portfolio structure in terms of credit quality and duration. As a result, our core performing high yield portfolios generally exhibited lower volatility than the benchmark.

KEY DIFFERENTIATING CHARACTERISTICS

- Comprehensive Scenario Analysis - Forward-thinking and rigorous fundamental analysis conducted by experienced credit research team
- Proprietary Valuation Models - Incorporates scenario-based fundamental research with real-time data to enhance decision making
- Proactive Risk Management Approach - Managed at time of purchase based on worst case loss scenario from analyst model
- Opportunistic Trading Strategy - Comprehensive analysis and real-time updates to valuation models provides for greater conviction
- Nimble Platform - Advantageous size and proprietary, real-time valuation models provide the ability to capitalize on mispriced opportunities when markets exhibit high volatility or diminished liquidity

The above performance reflects that of the Advent Long Only High Yield Composite ("High Yield Composite", or the "Composite"). Inception date of the Composite was January 1, 2011. Performance is as of March 31, 2021. The model fee used for all accounts in the Composite is 50 basis points per year. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. Returns presented on a gross basis are substantially higher than returns presented on a net basis because gross returns do not reflect the deduction of investment advisory fees and other expenses that would be incurred by a client. Investment advisory fees have a compounding effect in reducing the value of a client portfolio over time. Please see the "Disclosures" section at the end of this presentation.

Calculation Methodology:

Advent calculates an asset-weighted return using the aggregate method. This method aggregates market values and cash flows for all accounts and treats the composite as if it were one account. The dispersion measure is the asset-weighted standard deviation for accounts in the composite for the entire year. The dispersion measure is not presented for periods where there are five or fewer portfolios included in the composite for the full annual period.

GENERAL RISK WARNINGS:

Past performance and hypothetical performance does not guarantee, and is not a reliable indicator of, future results and the performance of the Account may be substantially different. Current performance may be lower or higher than performance shown. The performance of an Advent investment strategy or Account may be volatile, and an investor could lose all or a substantial portion of any investment made in an Advent investment strategy or Account. No representation is given that an Advent investment strategy or Account is suitable for any particular investor. Market conditions can fluctuate and vary widely over time and can result in a loss of portfolio value. It should not be assumed that results for historic or hypothetical portfolio investments or investment strategies will be achieved for other investments in the future. No guarantee or representation is made that any Advent investment strategy or Account will achieve its investment objective or have positive returns. Investments may be in a variety of currencies and therefore changes in rates of exchange between currencies may cause the value of investments to decrease or increase. Furthermore, the value of investments may be adversely affected by fluctuations in exchange rates between the investor's reference currency and the base currency of the investments. Investments in derivative investments carry certain inherent risks such as the risk of counterparty default and before investing you should ensure you fully understand these risks. Use of leverage may also magnify losses as well as gains. Returns presented on a gross basis are substantially higher than returns presented on a net basis because gross returns do not reflect the deduction of investment advisory fees and other expenses that would be incurred by a client. The returns of a client investment in any investment strategy will be reduced by the advisory fees and any other expenses it may incur in the management of its account. Advisory fees have a compounded effect in reducing account performance over time. Investing in financial markets involves a substantial degree of risk and there can be no guarantee that the investment objectives of an Advent investment strategy or Account will be achieved. Investment losses may occur, and investors could lose some or all of their investment. This document may contain certain forward-looking statements. In some cases forward looking statements can be identified by the use of terms such as "believes", "estimates", "anticipates", "projects", "expects", "intends", "may", "will", "seeks" or "should" or variations thereof, or by discussions of strategy, plans, objectives, goals, future events or intentions. By their nature, forward-looking statements involve risk and uncertainty because they relate to future events and circumstances. Actual outcomes and results may differ materially from any outcomes or results expressed or implied by such forward-thinking statements. The success or achievement of various results, targets and objectives is dependent upon a multitude of factors, many of which are beyond the control of Advent. No representations are made as to the accuracy of such estimates or projections or that such estimates or projections will be realized. Actual events or conditions are unlikely to be consistent with, and may differ materially from, those assumed.
